AN UNSPOKEN SPEECH.

Passing by the ex palace this morning a representative of THE INDEPENDENT saw a paper fluttering past sentries and into the street. Our man picked it up and was charmed by finding a rough draft of some speech or other, evidently intended to be delivered by some high official to a legislative body as a "good-bye boys?"

As we have noticed that no address was made to the legislators yesterday before they went home by the President we are inclined to believe that the customary speech has been lost or gone into the executive waste basket. It is fortunate that a document resembling a prorogation address accidentally was preserved through the "catching" prowess of our representative.

The alleged speech is written in a rather slipshod manner and reminds us forcibly of the style of the author of the land bill. These are the contents of the document:

Senators and Representatives—Invested with rights granted to me by the Constitution of this remarkable republic, of which I have the honor to be the boss; I called you together in special session the day after the annual horse races were over. The races were a success; you were not. My special object in demanding your presence here was to show you my land bill on which I honestly have worked and labored for nearly eighteen months. I beg here to state that it was the most severe job ever undertaken by me. You, gentlemen of the Senate and House, have seen fit in less than eighteen weeks to bungle my land bill into such a state that its grandmother wouldn't recognize it. I knew it was unconstitutional from the start. But I also knew our Supreme Court—I ought to. You have fixed it in such an imbecile manner that even the Supreme Court cannot help declaring it unconstitutional, and the object which I had in view has been killed altogether. I admit that we have played a funny game, while we have boomed small holdings and homesteads and small farmers, my Ministers renewed all the long crownland leases of the immense estates for 20 years. I helped them in it, but, Senators and Representatives, my land bill looks good, anyhow. The printing office which had the job of printing it is satisfied, even if its manager has to chase my Minister of Finance for the "plunks" due. Gentlemen, you have with great wisdom handled other matters. Most measures laid before you have been killed, and I compliment you on the fact. The people are not educated yet up to low grade kerosene oil. You killed the bill, and I am glad because it was one of Damon's schemes, and I suspect him of wanting my job. Can't he wait—y—? He got the best of you, though, on the Bishop building, which I thought would have been offered to me as a presidential residence, with rents and maintenance paid by the Government. But he wanted it for himself, and I don't believe in the high-school dodge at all. The electric car franchise was killed. I am glad of that. Mules are good enough for you, Senators and Representatives, and the promoters had not money enough to "see" you through. The country is in a beautiful state. Our finances, according to Damon, are excellent. How he makes that out I don't exactly know, but take his word. His statements, which he indicts on me, tell a different story. The army is brave and Colonel McLean is already all right after the 11th of June. I am sorry that "the only authorities which I recognize" don't altogether harmonize. Still, like Hitchcock, I feel safe in the middle of citizens' guards, sharpshooters, volunteers and the army—much safer, however, when outside of them. Our foreign relations are getting on finely. We are being crowded by demands and claims every day. I have a good mind to discharge the whole diplomatic and consular corps. Gentlemen, we have got to pay some of those claims, and I advise you to pass an act at the next session authorizing me to compromise with the claimants. I may have to call another special session, but I notice that Ryeroff, Nottley and others are sick and tired of this little land bill session.

Senators and Representatives, I have no more to say. You have done noble work in killing nearly every measure brought before you except the appropriations for yourselves, and I join you sincerely in the numerous expressions (by inference) of want of confidence in my Ministers. Go home. God bless you—I can't. Au revoir.

The special session of 1895 is prorogued.—(And the land played on).

Although building alterations are going on, N. S. Sach's is still prepared to do business, all orders by telephone will be promptly executed and delivered free to any part of the city.
